Dear Families,

The well-being of all our Holy Rosary Families is always of the utmost importance. On Friday, we began to make the necessary preparations to ensure all students will continue to receive a high-quality education in the event they would not be able to come to school. The teachers created the plans and had students practice this learning.

The plan for this week will be to have all students attend school on Monday, March 16th. Once again, if parents are uncomfortable with this, the students' absence will be excused. On Monday, we will have the teachers and students practice and finalize everything necessary to ensure continued at-home learning. Teachers have plans for taking attendance while students are learning from home. We will have teachers checking in with students daily. In addition to a high-quality education, we want the students to still feel connected to HRCS to help with a sense of safety and security.

On Tuesday, there will be no school for students. This will be similar to a snow day. Tuesday will be a day where students stay home, and parents can prepare for learning at home. The teachers and staff will take this day to do a deep cleaning of the school.

On Wednesday, we will begin distance learning. The distance learning will continue for Thursday and Friday. Currently, we are planning to have students return on March 30th after spring break. We will re-evaluate the constantly changing situation closer to that time to determine the best ways to keep our Holy Rosary Families safe. Please continue to pray for healing and guidance during this difficult time.

I hope this advanced notice gives families time to prepare to have their children at home. As always, if you have any questions or concerns, please contact me.

Sincerely,
Carina VanPelt M.Ed.
Principal, Holy Rosary School
